a Message from the Mermaid and the FrostbitFins Pod

Happy December my FeatherFins!

This year has gone by so quickly - how is it December already? I love this time of year, don't you? The music, the laughter, friends and family reconnecting... the sparkly lights and decorations, I love it all!

It was fun seeing everyone at the Christmas Bazaars the past couple of weekends and share with all of you our merchandise - all of which make for fantastic stocking stuffers! We will be at one more show this month, December 10-12 at the Old Carrs Mall, and AnneMeridia herself will be there that Saturday! So be sure to stop by and see us!

Remember last year when we did our live and checked in with our friend Crash the Reindeer to track Santa? We've put all the photos and story together in a little Christmas booklet that is available for purchase for just $7! You can find it on our website, or just email us and we'll be happy to get you a copy! We also collected all of the coloring pages (plus a few!) from our newsletters and put them together into a coloring book too! It's available for just $5, and we'll have copies of both at the Vendor Show I mentioned above. Also - though the topic this month is Narwhals - for my friend Crash, our Guppy Goody is based of reindeer! :)

We hope everyone has a FinTastic Holiday season, filled with joy, love, and family - and wish everyone a splashing good New Year! See you soon!

With Mermaid wishes and Starfish kisses,
Your Seafriend, AnneMeridia

DECEMBER FIN FACTS WITH NARWHALS

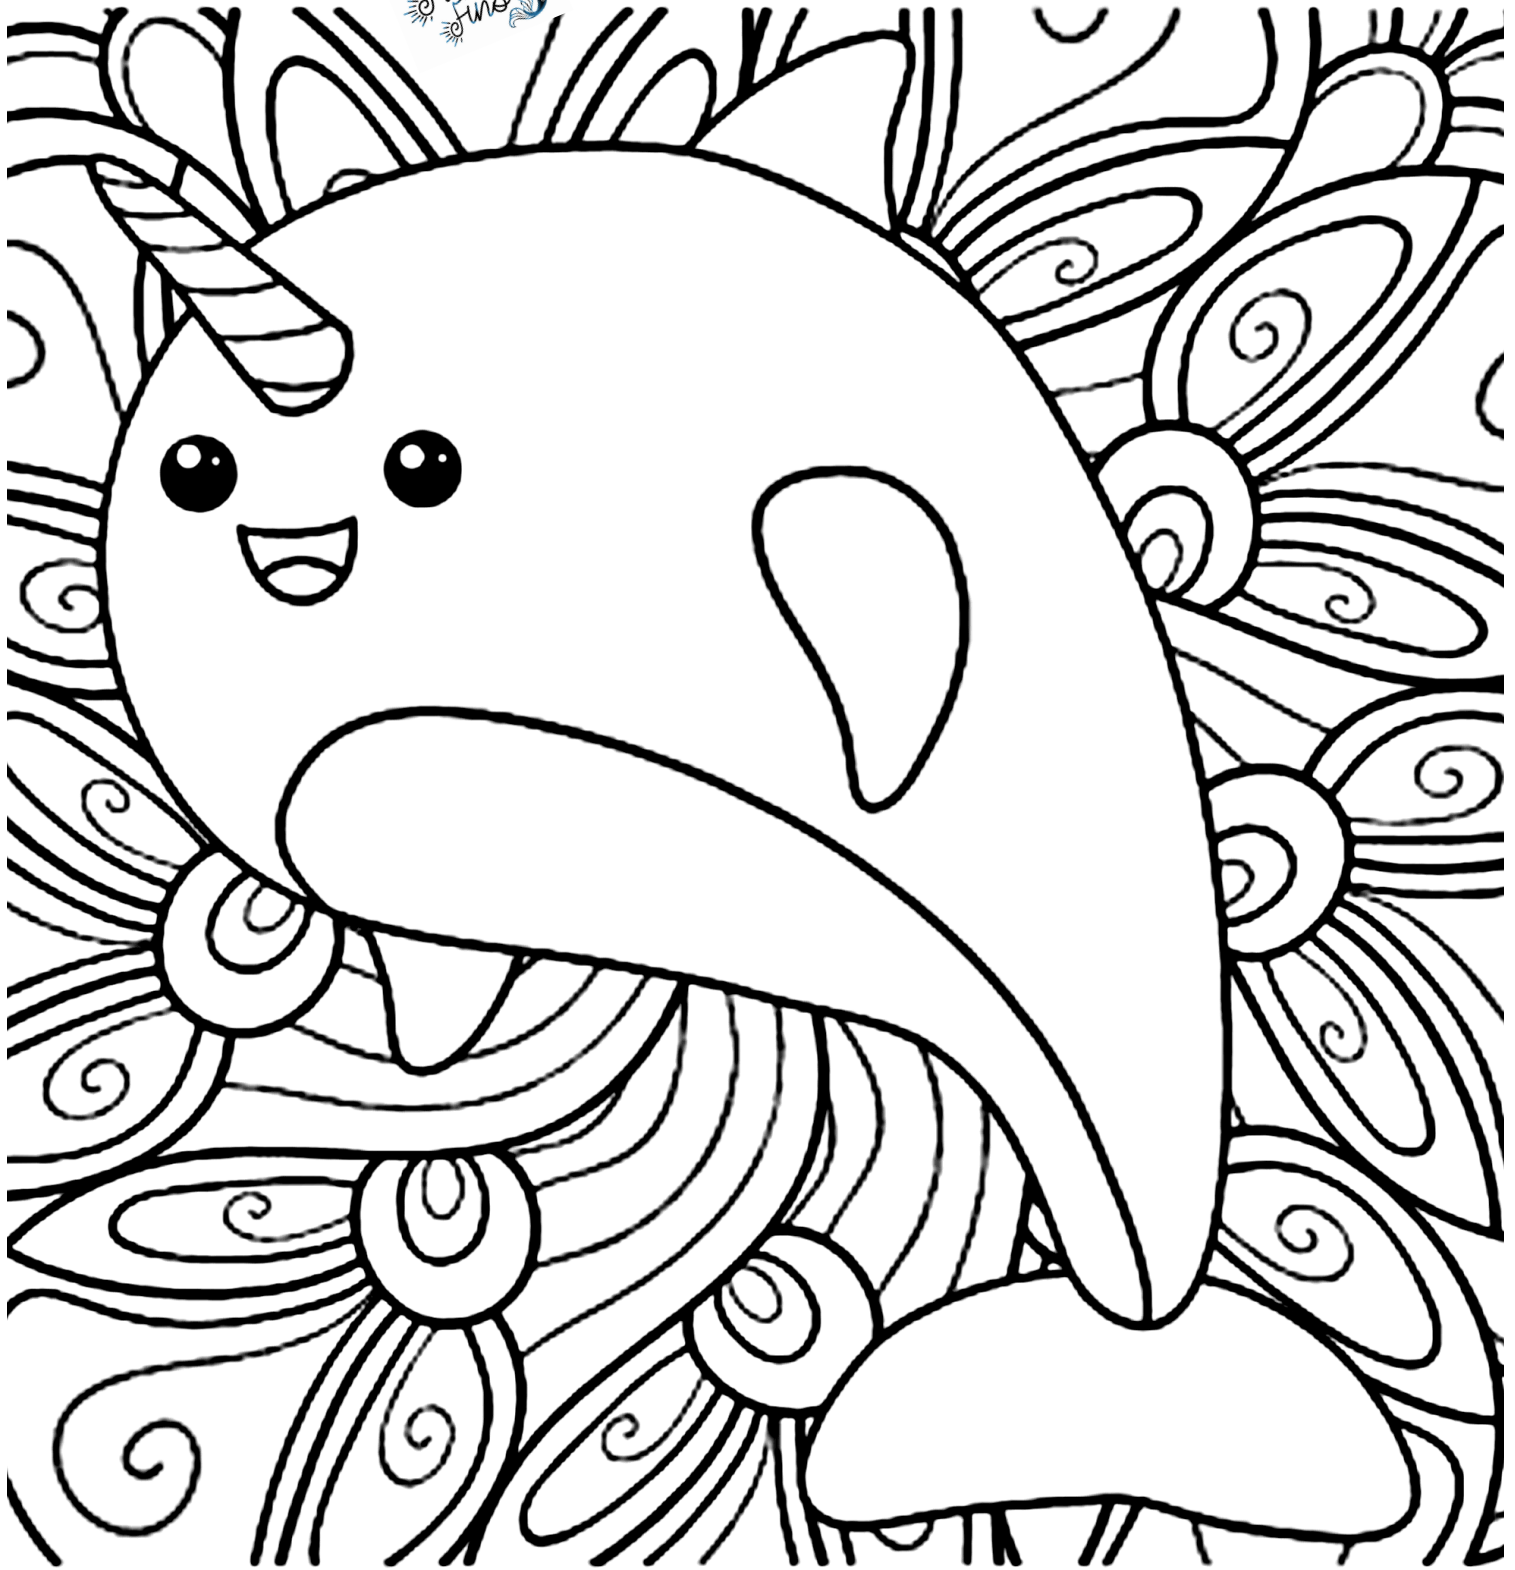

- Narwhals belong to the whale family.
- The “horn” on a narwhal is called a tusk.
- The tusk is one of two teeth narwhals have on their upper jaw that grow outward at adulthood.
- Not all narwhals have tusks. It is mostly males who have them. But some females do too.
- The narwhal tusk is like an inside out tooth. It is soft on the outside and very sensitive.
- Some narwhals have grown a double tusk.
- Narwhals live in very cold, icy water. They are seen a lot in northern Russia, Greenland, and northeastern Canada. They have even been seen near Point Barrow, Alaska.
- Narwhals change colors as they grow up- babies are blue-gray, young narwhals are blue-black, adults are gray, and old narwhals are white.
