a Message from the Mermaid and the Frostbit Fins Pod

Hello, my FeatherFins!

And just like that - Summer is coming to a close! All of our friends are back in school, and making new friends and learning new things. What an exciting time of year!

In August, we had so much fun at the fair - our Fishing Booth and Dip-a-Duck games were a huge success and we had a real splash playing with you. Did you go fish? What was your animal fun fact? Did you learn something new? We hope so!

This past weekend we were at the Fall Fungi Festival, a brand new event -it was so much fun! You'd wonder what a mermaid has to do with Fungi - but there are several mushrooms that grow under the sea as well! They're a delicious addition to a kelp and seaweed salad.

If you haven't already, be sure to follow us on Facebook and Instagram to see where we will be next! We're starting the Fall/Winter vendor show circuit, and we have so many new things coming up - like our new Stickers AND Sticker Collection Books!

As of now, we have no more events in September, but look for us at the Kenai Pumpkin Fest in October, as well as the Sterling Fall Vendor Show!

Have a flippin' fin-tastic month! Sea you soon!

The Amazing Flight of Little Ray by V. R. Duin

Little Ray can't think of anything better to do today than fly the friendly skies. The only thing holding him back is the fact that he is a sea-bound stingray, which, for him, proves to be only a minor setback. When he hurls himself into the air, it will take a little luck, a little ingenuity, and some feathery help from above to return him to the cool salty waters. Thank goodness, Little Ray has a lot of gumption and even more panache; it will come in handy during this soaring adventure.

SEPTEMBER FIN FACTS WITH

SKATES AND RAYS!

- Skates and rays are in a group of fish called elasmobranchs. Elasmobranchs have skeletons made of cartilage and have five gill slits on each side of their head. This group includes skates, rays, sawfish, and sharks.
- There are approximately 630 species of skates and rays that are divided into 18 different families.
- One main difference between rays and skates is that rays have live births while skates lay eggs. Skate eggs are in hard cases called mermaid purses!
- Not all rays are stingrays. Some rays, like manta rays, have long, barbless tails. Other rays, like the spotted eagle ray, have venomous spines on their tails.
- The oceanic manta ray is the largest ray species in the world. From wing tip to wing tip, they can grow to at least 23 feet and weigh up to an impressive 4,000 pounds!
- The electric ray has two kidney- shaped electric organs located on its back, can produce between 8 to 220 volts of electricity.
- The shark ray is also known as the bowmouth guitarfish because of it having a guitar- shaped body.
- The big skate can be found from Baja California all the way into Alaska. It is also one of the largest species of skates and can reach 8 feet in length and 200 pounds!
- When baby manta rays are born, they look like a rolled- up burrito!
